

Robert Gonzales

Robert Gonzales has been social dancing for a decade and has been an instructor at Go Dance Studio in Austin, TX for two years. He loves leading and following in country-western, swing, and Latin dances. An experienced science educator, Robert values the structure of dance and the physics of connection. Robert infuses his lessons with lighthearted humor, reminding students that while repetition is essential to learning a move, it is even more important to enjoy learning how to move. His encouragement helps students stay positive while his attention to detail builds confidence and technique. He believes learning to dance is a never-ending process and loves to help his students develop their experience step-by-step and dance-by-dance.
